From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Oct. 28.

Amsterdam, October 28.

TH E Reduction of Suza having yet been but imperfectly related, we shall here give a particular Account of it, as transmitted from the Camp of Prince Eugene.

The 19th of September, the Army advanc'd from Rivalta to Veillane, and in the Night the Prince of Anhalt march'd towards Buffolino, with all the Grenadiers commanded by the Count d' Eck, 5 Battalions of Imperialists under Count Konigseck, 3 of Prussians, and 2 of Hessians under Major General Sacken. This Detachment was supported by 1000 Horse under Count Rocavione Major-General; and Prince Eugene march'd after with the rest of the Army: The 20th in the Morning they encamp'd at St. George within 3 Leagues of Suza; the 21st they advanc'd almost within Cannon-shot of the Place. The Count d' Eck at the Head of 400 Grenadiers possess'd himself of the Eminencies on the Left of the Camp, with the Loss of 10 Men, besides wounded. The Prince of Anhalt, Count Konigseck, and General Sacken, drove the Enemy from their other Posts and Intrenchments. They were beaten even from the Mountain commanding that of which the Prince of Eck had possess'd himself. In short, they abandon'd all their Posts, quite to the Foot of the Mountain on which the Town of Suza is situate; and set fire to their Ammunition, but left 4 Pieces of Cannon. Then Adjutant-General Hohendorf advancing with the Heydukes and Grenadiers, beat the Enemy from a Redoubt, and took 6 Pieces of Cannon charg'd, with some Ammunition. Major-General Zumjungen kept in the Camp with 6 Battalions, in Order to pass the Doire, and possess himself of the Mountain behind Suza. The Prince of Anhalt advanc'd nearer the Place. The 22d Lieutenant-General Wilke, a Hessian, was sent to observe the Enemy that were posted on the Hills of the Col de Fenestrelles. The 22d in the Night, the Town of Suza sent Deputies to offer their Keys. The Enemy who had evacuated it, as also the old Castle, broke down the Bridge on the Doire, and that of Chaumont, and retir'd towards la Brunette behind the Citadel. The Counts de Ghelen and de Kevenhiller, with 400 Grenadiers and 200 Horse, took Possession of the Town, and gave Order for repairing the Bridge. General Zumjungen posted himself in Chamont with 6 Battalions; and that Day we had Advice, that the Marshal de Tesse was arriv'd at the Col de Fenestrelles. The Enemy had 6 Battalions and 800 Militia in all their Posts, which they abandon'd after little firing; which was very surprising, because they might have defended themselves with less Force. In the Town and its Outworks were found 14 Pieces of Brass Cannon, 3000 Sacks of Corn or Meal, and some Ammunition in a Magazine.

The Night of the 23d General Zumjungen having repass'd the Bridge of Chaumont with his Troops, drove the Enemy from the Mountains, and march'd to Giallon, whence he detach'd Lieutenant Collonel Odoarde with 400 Men and one Battalion, to beat the Enemy from the Hills they had re-taken and where they had intrench'd themselves. After a pretty obstinate Defence he defeated them, and secur'd the Hills in such a Manner as not to fear to lose them again. The 24th Lieutenant Collonel Berbleau, a Prussian, with 600 Men beat the French out of two Redoubts on the Hills of the Col de Fenestrelles. The Deserters, who came over in Troops, reported, that the Enemy were possess'd of the Top of the Mountain, where being surrounded with Snows, and wanting Wood, they suffered very much by Cold.

The 25th Batteries were begun, and Artillery drawn to them, but the Rains and darkness of the Night retarded the Work very much. We had Advice, that 12 of the Enemy's Battalions, coming from Savoy, were to arrive that Day at Mount Cenis. The 26th during the Night most of the heavy Artillery was carry'd to la Brunette. The Enemy made a great fire with Musquets from the Fort of Catinar, but only wounded some Soldiers, and some Cattle.

The 27th General Zumjungen having receiv'd a Reinforcement of 660 Men, posted himself to cover the Trenches. At 2 a Clock we began to batter Fort Catinar with 12 Pieces of Cannon, and to throw Bombs into the Citadel. The 28th a pretty large Breach was made in Fort Catinar. That Day we had an Account, that the Marshal de Tesse was at the Col de Fenestrelles with 29 Battalions; and that Count Medavi was with 20 near Mount Cenis; besides some Foot and a Regiment of Dragoons that they had at Exiles. The Deserters, in great Numbers, confirm'd that the Enemy suffer'd much on the Mountain, wanting all things.

The Night of the 29th Fort Catinar was taken Sword in Hand; in it 1 Lieutenant and 16 Soldiers were kill'd, and 50 taken Prisoners, with a Captain wounded. On our Side, we had some kill'd and wounded: The Lieutenant of the Grenadiers of Zumjungen was kill'd on this Occasion. In the Fort were found 2 Cannon, and some Ammunition. We began to batter the Citadel with 7 Pieces of Cannon and to raise two other Batteries of 4 and 6 Pieces: The 30th we continu'd Battering and throwing Bombs into it.

The 1st of October we fir'd from 2 new Batteries. The 2d the Breach being pretty large, another Battery was Order'd on the Left. The 3d we continu'd to enlarge the Breach; about Noon the Garrison sent Officers to Capitulate; but not being able to obtain Allowance to march out with Arms, Baggage and 4 Pieces of Cannon, they return'd; and we continu'd to fire with that Success, that towards the Evening the Garrison yielded themselves Prisoners of War, consisting of 3 Officers and 1 Battalion of Beaujeu-Lois commanded by a Brigadier.
